Tyrrell House celebrates successful grand opening

Over 70 people attended the grand opening of Tyrrell House, a state-of-the-art assisted living and memory care facility, on Oct. 6. Tyrrell House is the newest elder care building in Columbia, employing more than 20 staff members.

Retired pastor Rev. Joe Wynns began the grand opening program with prayer for the residents, building, and employees. Kim Wheeler, President of the Greater Tyrrell Chamber of Commerce, cut the ribbon to open the new building with the help of Columbia Mayor F. Michael Griffin, Chamber member Steve Bryan, resident Timothy Howell, and Executive Director Janet Elliott.

“We’re so happy to open our doors and welcome new residents,” said Elliott. “Our goal is to create a community that our residents, families, healthcare partners, and Tyrrell County can be proud of.”

Designed to be a safe, engaging, and therapeutic environment, Tyrrell House provides health and personal care in beautiful, comfortable surroundings, along with registered dietician approved meals, activities, and 24/7 on-site staff. Residents may choose furnished or unfurnished companion or private rooms. View the virtual tour at www.affinitylivinggroup.com/Tyrrell
